Agenda: Pupil Voice

- AB asked the children to give an update regarding the class dojo shop and the possibility of awarding children token prizes as opposed to prizes directly from the dojo shop.
- Prizes are currently allocated depending upon the number of dojo points that the children have achieved, e.g. 50, 100, 150 and 300 dojo points.

The children suggested the possible rewards could go into the dojo shop:

- Extra time to do art activities

- Time in the library, e.g. on the chrome books/read a book.
- Extra playtime.
- Bank the tokens so for instance if you had 5 tokens you could get something better than if you got 2. You could use the tokens to buy bigger prizes.
- Maybe a token could equate to something free from the tuck shop.
- The more dojo points you get, the more time that you could go onto a chrome book.
- You could save up tokens for an ice-cream.
- Tuck shop to be included in the prizes.
